Join us in meeting the challenges of child protection education for a sustainable society.

Preventive education on self-protection against the risks of human trafficking, migration, sexual abuse, reproductive health and other social harms.

“Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.”

- Nelson Mandela -

Implementing country: VIETNAM

Name of Applicant: Alliance Anti Traffic Vietnam (AAT)

Project title: Action plan to prevent human trafficking, sexual abuse and exploitation through education for vulnerable populations.

Beneficiaries: 7050 persons (Children: 3500, parents: 3000, young adults: 500, state officers, school teachers: 50)

Cost of the project/package: $38.000 (Including annual financial audit)

Duration: 9 months (per province and school year period)

Teen girls are the most vulnerable group on earth

"If you invest in the education of girls, they will go on to change the world".

Kofi Annan

Goal: Children, parents, communities, educators and local officials officers are able to protect themselves, their families and their community, thanks to education and prevention information and tips provided by the program.

The concept of watch-groups is assimilated. The government agree to adopt this education at the national level at schools.

Target group: Vietnamese children, the community, ethnic communities, teachers, officers of the Education services and of the Department of Social Vice Prevention (DSVP).

The project intends to educate the children through a uniquely-designed training program that will provide them with detailed knowledges as following:

Reproductive health, risks of sexual abuse, human trafficking, risks of unprotected sexual activity, unwanted pregnancy, contraceptive methods, teen abortion risks, sexually transmitted infections, basic self-defense techniques, safe and unsafe migration, fake promises of job/marriage in a foreign country, domestic violence, drug use, gender, child marriage, incest, how to protect yourself and others, knowledge of human rights, and related Vietnamese laws.

A Luoi (Thua Thien Hue):
Ethnic minority children following the training at school.

An educated person can influence many others in his environment, provoking a positive ripple effect of self-awareness and self-protection. Educating children and their parents really has a positive impact for their entire community!

The children will learn knowledge and skills in an interactive classroom. Trainers are equipped with learner-centered training techniques to maximize participation and sharing for an effective training program that tackles taboo issues.

Self-defense is part of the training taught to children.

Activities & Measurable Targets:

Activity 1: Training the trainers: local staff of the Department of Social Vice Prevention, the Department of Education, school management boards, teachers. Developing and printing training curricula and manuals.
